WEST SHORE OBJECTS TO MODIFIED CROSSING PLAN

Latest Subway Proposed By Mayor Would Cost $600,000---Railroad Wants to Know How Much City and Trolley Co. Will Stand.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, July 24.—A modification of the original plan for the Broadway subway under the New York Central tracks in Kingston was presented at a hearing before Public Service Commissioner Fennell Wednesday by Mayor Palmer Canfield, Jr. It met with objection by Amos Van Etten, attorney, and B. S. Voorhees, grade crossing engineer representing the railroad. Judge Joseph M. Fowler represented the Kingston Chamber of Commerce and Assistant City Engineer Lorraine Wood was also present at the hearing.

The modified plan presented showed a subway with two trolley tracks on either side, trolley platforms under the bridge, high level sidewalks on both sides of the street with a ramp connecting Broadway. It called for a width of 92 feet between abutments and the requirement of four additional feet of land on the south of Broadway. The estimated cost of the structure under the plan was about $600,000.

The railroad's representatives objected to further consideration of the modified plan until the city went on record as to whether or not it is willing to stand more than its one quarter share in view of the addition facilities which it was claimed would be provided the city. They also wanted to know what the Kingston Consolidated Railroad Company would do in contributing to the added cost of the subway work.

The estimated cost of the work in 1911 was about $225,000. It was decided that the railroad company should submit a statement to the city as to the amount the city and the street railroad company should pay of construction cost under the modified plan presented today.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

The trip had been planned for Tuesday, but inclement weather had prevented the flight. The pilots of the machines Lieutenant Donald E. Martin, Lieutenant H. C. Chandler, Major E. B. Lyon, Captain Harry M. Smith, Captain M. C. McCleary, Lieutenant John E. Dreer, Lieutenant John B. Royllot, Lieutenant R. C. Kirkpatrick, Lieutenant W. C. Coates and Lieutenant H. D. Norris. The other pilots were in De Haviland machines and will fly direct to Albany. The aviators expect to fly back from the capital tomorrow.

Colonel Archie Miller and Captain C. Gordon Reel went along as passengers. They have with them photographs and other data relative to landing places in the state and will confer with Governor Smith on the advisability of establishing such places throughout the state.

CONVENTION SIDELIGHTS

The candidates for designation by the Republican convention were in town early this morning and could be seen on Wall street, near the court house, the usual center for delegates to gather, at convention time, and the latter were greeted by the candidates. Nearly all of the old Republican warhorses were in town, shaking hands with one another and talking of incidents of former conventions before the advent of the new fangled primary elections. Among those noticed were Philip Schantz and Harcourt J. Pratt of Highland, W. Kelly Shook of Wawarsing, John D. Fratscher, Martin Cantine, John G. Palmer, John A. Snyder of Saugerties, Foster Winchell of Marbletown, Frank Bennett of Denning, Nathaniel DuBois and Rufus Wood of Rosendale, C. Meech Woolsey of Marlborough, James Lounsberry of Rochester, William W. McElhone of Shawangunk, James E. Kennedy, town of Ulster; Jay Heaton of Plattekill, Simon Van Wagenen of Esopus, and a number of others. In order to accommodate the large number of delegates, that the dinner during the noon recess could be finished so they might get back to the convention by 2 p. m., half of the delegates were sent to the Eagle Hotel and the other half to the Stuyvesant, the diners being the guests of the Ulster County Republican club.

THIS YEAR'S IS BIG CONVENTION

238 Delegates Make Up Republican County Body—Wadsworth Spent Night Here—List of Delegates.

The Ulster county Republican convention, held at the Kingston Opera House, today, is the largest in point of number of delegates and in point of attendance ever held by that party in this county. The convention is unofficial in that it did not nominate candidates to be voted for at the general election in November but simply recommended candidates who will be the choice of the Republican party to be voted for at the regular primaries on September 2d, for nominations. Designations were made for county treasurer, district attorney, a coroner, county committeemen and city committeemen. There are 86 election district in the county and three delegates were elected at the town and city caucuses in each district July 17th to attend this convention. A new feature of the convention was that each delegate wore a white satin badge on which was printed in blue ink "Delegate, Republican County Convention, July 24, 1919." An eagle, the emblem of the Republican party, was on each badge

This afternoon U. S. Senator James W. Wadsworth, who represents New York state, delivered an address before a large audience at the Opera House. Senator Wadsworth arrived from Washington, D. C., last evening and was the guest last night of Philip Elting, chairman of the Ulster County Republican Central Committee, and was given an automobile ride around the New York water works and the Ashokan dam.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION OFF TO A SMOOTH START

Elting Re-elected Chairman and Eckert Secretary---Elting State Committeeman---Lahl Wins Only Contest---Ward's Speech Read in His Absence.

The semi-official Republican county convention came to order at noon today in the Opera House with all of the delegates save those from District 2, Hardenbergh, present.

After the roll-call of delegates, Chairman Philip Elting, addressing the convention said the Republicans of Ulster county have reason to call upon themselves for self congratulations. He spoke of the good work of the party in elections and the growing majorities each succeeding year, until it has reached, excepting last year from 4,000 to 6,000 majorities, and has continued in majority for the board of supervisors. For many years the county was considered safely Democratic. Chairman Elting said he was well satisfied with the work accomplished by the Republican voters since he assumed the chairmanship. He said he always believed in party responsibility and if a party does not make good it should be voted out. The success of the party has shown that the party has made good. He explained the duty of the delegates to the present convention. There was a great responsibility delegated upon those present today.

Designations today ought to be of men who can keep up the usual standard of majorities in our county. The county delegates were reminded that the towns should see that Republican supervisors be elected in November; that the city had come to the rescue two years ago and elected a sufficient number to make the board Republican.

The first business was the designation of a member of the state committee from Ulster county.

Harcourt J. Pratt of Lloyd named Philip Elting, which was seconded by S. A. Cross of Rochester. The secretary was instructed to cast a ballot for Mr Elting, which was carried and he was declared designated amid loud applause.

Philip Elting was re-elected chairman of the county committee and John W. Eckert secretary.

Next in order was the designating by districts members of the county committee to represent the towns. There was but one contest, being in the Fifth ward in this city. Charles Lahl and William A. Bilyou were each named and Mr. Lahl received two of the three votes, and was declared designated.

Chairman Elting stated that Congressman Charles B. Ward expected to be present and had sent a letter regretting his inability to leave Washington, as he had looked forward to be present. He sent an address which he intended to deliver, which he requested to be read before the convention. This was done by Secretary Eckert.

In less than one year from today the great political parties of the country will have made their nominations and the campaign for the presidency will be under way. In 1916 Woodrow Wilson was re-elected president of the United States on the camouflaged issue that "he kept us out of war." Democratic spellbinders traveled from coast to coast glorifying the peaceful and pacific proclivities of the infallible Woodrow Wilson and pointing out that the success of the Republican candidate, Charles Evans Hughes, would plunge our beloved country into the great European conflict. On that issue and on that issue alone they succeeded in carrying enough western states to give President Wilson a second term in the White House.

Immediately following his second inauguration the president was at once transformed from a dove of peace into a roaring lion of war. The war with Germany was of course inevitable. It was bound to come. It was a question of the triumph of the eternal principles of democracy as against those of autocracy and with that question in issue there was only one course open to the United States. We entered the war whole-heartedly and with genuine enthusiasm.

We furnished the men and money necessary to bring the war to a successful conclusion, for history will record the fact that it was the soldiers and sailors and the marines of Uncle Sam who struck the decisive blow that set the whole world free. In that crisis of our nation's life it was to the Republican's in Congress that the Democratic president was compelled to turn to secure the legislation necessary to insure our country's success on the battlefields of Europe. In a spirit of patriotism the Republicans of the House and Senate presented a solid front as against a divided and discordant democracy, giving loyal and enthusiastic support to every war measure of the administration, closing our eyes to many questionable acts of omission and of commission rather than embarrass those in authority in the conduct of the war.

That time, however, has now passed. The day of reckoning is at hand. The Democratic party is now called upon to give an account of its stewardship. It is up to them to explain just how they expended thirty billion dollars of the people's money which has been estimated to be the cost of the war. It is up to them to clear themselves of the charge of graft and incompetency which has permeated every branch of the government service from the day that the war was declared.

Let me cite one concrete case. As early as 1869, during Grant's administration, the government established a military reservation in Oklahoma known as Fort Sill. The reservation comprised 121,000 acres of land. It has been used ever since it was established as a rifle range and proving ground for the army. A few days before the armistice was signed Secretary Baker issued an order abandoning the Fort Sill reservation and authorizing the purchase of a tract of land at Fort Bennings, Georgia, at a cost of approximately thirteen millions of dollars which was to be used in the future by the war department as a rifle range and a proving ground. This willful and unnecessary waste of the people's money is today the subject of congressional investigation and when responsibility for this outrage is definitely fixed it should result in impeachment proceedings and criminal prosecutions.

I might also call your attention to the scandal connected with the purchase of Hog Island as a ship yard and to the millions upon millions that were wasted by the incompetent board having charge of aviation. Only recently I was informed that an American officer was sent from France to Spain to purchase vinegar for the expeditionary forces. No restrictions of any kind were placed upon this officer as to the amount of vinegar he should purchase, and the story, as I get it, is that this officer bought four million gallons of vinegar which are now stored somewhere in France.

The issue in next year's campaign will be that of taxation and economy of administration. The people have a right to demand relief from the burdens of taxation under which they are now groaning, and they also have a right to insist on the application of the most rigid economy in the administration of all governmental affairs. With the issue clearly defined we, as Republicans can enter the next campaign with full confidence and assurance.

Our Democratic friends have had their feast of folly and already they see emblazoned on the wall, in letters of living light, the words that broke up Belshazzar's feast, "Mene, mene, tekel upharzin." Thou art weighed in the balance and found wanting."

A recess was here taken, it being 1 o'clock, to dinner, half of the delegates going to Eagle Hotel and half to The Stuyvesant, to reconvene at 2 o'clock. Tickets were passed by Treasurer C. K. Loughran of the Republican County Committee and Henry R. DeWitt.

CHICAGO STRIKE SEEMS CERTAIN

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Chicago, July 24.—The threatened strike of employes of the Chicago Elevated and Surface Railway lines seemed further from settlement than ever today as a result of the flat refusal of the companies to accept as compromise a wage increase to 62 cents an hour.

The men are demanding 85 cents an hour and a eight hour day and declare they will accept no other settlement. The present wage scale is 48 cents for a ten hour day.

Although the compromise offer has been rejected, further conferences between the leaders of the employes and officials of the railway lines are to be held. Those familiar with the situation, however, are not optimistic that a basis of settlement will be reached.

PREMIER OFFERS WAGE GUARANTY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, July 24.—Premier Lloyd-George made a new offer to the striking coal miners today, in an effort to end the strike.

The premier declared he was ready to guarantee that the miners would not suffer loss of wages on piece work due to shorter hours.

The offer was to be considered at the conference of Mr. Lloyd-George and the officials of the Federated Miners' Union this afternoon, but even if accepted it is uncertain whether it will satisfy the Yorkshire workers.

What the Police Found.

Officer Saehloff during the night found a stray bay horse rambling around down town and placed the animal in Webster's livery.

PRESIDENT SPENDS RESTFUL DAY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, July 24.—President Wilson will continue his conferences with Republican senators in an effort to convince them the peace treaty should be ratified with reservations, despite the situation created by the proposal of Former President Taft, leading Republican advocate of the League of Nations, that six reservations be made in the covenant.

This was plainly indicated at the White House today when it was announced that President Wilson will carry out his program of meeting the Republican members of the upper house and when it was allowed to become known that the president was aware of Mr. Taft's stand before the publication of his letters to Chairman Will Hays of the Republican National Committee.

The president was to resume his conference with the Republican senators probably tomorrow, it was stated. He had no appointments for today, having decided, on the advice of Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, his physician, to devote the day mostly to resting.

The president had arisen from a sick bed to continue his conferences, it was pointed out, and, while his condition was again practically normal, Dr. Grayson was reluctant to have him subject himself to further strain at this time, it was stated.

SERIOUS FIRE AT BAYONNE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Bayonne, N. J., July 24.—The explosion of a tank car set fire to several other tank cars, resulting in a series of explosions and a fire at the plant of the Texas Oil Company here today. Six or eight persons were injured, according to first reports received by the police, but there were no fatalities.

The shock of the explosions was felt for two miles.

Two city firemen were among the injured.

BULGAR TREATY TALK PUT OVER

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, July 24.—Premier Clemenceau was busy with French diplomatic affairs today and was unable to attend the meeting of the supreme council. Foreign Minister Pichon and President Poincaire were in Belgium and it was therefore decided to postpone, until tomorrow, the discussion of the Bulgarian treaty.

The Bulgarian peace commissioners are due to arrive tomorrow. The American peace delegation is hopeful that the Bulgarian treaty can be completed in much less time than the Austrian. The only outstanding question is the disposition of Thrace, which, it is believed, can be settled in a few days.

Formal consideration of the Adriatic controversy is being considered while the council awaits the outcome of the Fiume question.

LENDS STRANGER $1,240

That Was Ten Days Ago—Poughkeepsie Woman Victimized.

Telling her that he merely wanted to take $1,240 for a few minutes, not over twenty, for which he would pay her a $1 a minute, and also give her a free ticket to her home in Polish-Austria, a stranger whom she had never seen before but who had been brought to her and introduced by a woman whom she had met a few days prior, induced Katie Tulatz of Poughkeepsie to go to the bank, draw out her savings and give them to him. That was ten days ago and she is still looking for her money.

Katie came to this country several years ago, leaving her two daughters in Austria with her husband, who, it is said, is not a very thrifty man. She had worked and saved, and every penny she could take from her savings besides the amount she spent for the care of her children was placed in the bank, as she intended to go back within a short time to join them and buy a business by which they could all live comfortably. The police have started a search for the stranger.

German Premier Declares War on Pan-Germans Whose Sole Aim as Country Struggles to Regain Footing, Is to Restore Monarchy.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Berlin, July 24.—Premier Gustav Adolph Bauer served emphatic notice upon the Pan-Germans in the national assembly at Weimar on Wednesday, that they can never overthrow the republican government in Germany.

"It is noteworthy that the gentlemen of the extreme right, at the very moment when the Hohenzollern empire lies dead, never again to be resurrected, have placed restoration of the monarchy as the foremost point on their program, and are ready to fight parliamentary government to the knife, but we are armed for the battle," declared the premier.

Premier Bauer announced that his program included the socialization of German industries as far as possible and gave assurances that every one would get food and clothing. The importation of luxuries will be excluded.

German industrial leaders, it was revealed are demanding a tariff wall, but at the same time are seeking an equal share of trade in the world's markets.

IN DUTY BOUND TO HARVEST CROP

Children in all Sections Keeping Pledge to Government to Let Nothing Go to Waste—Teachers Aid Greatly.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, July 24.—The children of America, enlisted in the United States School Garden Army, are put upon their honor to bring to harvest every crop that has been planted, according to a communique just issued from Washington Headquarters of the U. S. S. G., Bureau of Education, Department of the Interior.

The little soldiers, who carry over their shoulders the hoe and rake, "the tools by which human society has built its fabric," are called upon to "see it through," to tend faithfully every crop already planted and to carry out the eplistment pledge to "raise one or more food crop during the season of 1919."

Reports from every section of the country indicate that the garden tasks are hailed with joy by the children, and that in the garden they find a fascination that rivals any outdoor game ever invented, and boards of education, superintendents of schools, garden teachers, supervisors, commercial clubs, chambers of commerce, and women's organizations have already given the heartiest endorsement to the work of the United States School Garden Army, and pledged themselves to continue their co-operation until the close of the garden year.

Garden paths lead straight to the savings banks windows, and the young gardeners tread these paths every week, while in the school-supervised home garden it is pointed out that there is the making of the finest community spirit—the spirit of one flag and one language—that the world has ever seen. In a message from Washington headquarters it is emphasized that in the garden the child learns to help pull the load, and the commissioner of education says that while "it is not good for children to be ground in the mills, sweated in the shops or buried in the mines, it is good for them to work joyously out of doors, with their feet in the soil, their heads in the sunshine and their lungs filled with good fresh air; to work until they are hungry and tired and will eat heartily and sleep soundly as a result. This kind of work gives strength of muscle, steadiness of nerve, a strong pulse-beat, a clear eye and strength of endurance."

The message addressed to the millions of boys and girls in the garden ranks in the United States, Porto Rico, Hawaii and Philippine Islands, and to the 50,000 garden teachers of the United Ssates, says: "To fail to bring to harvest that which has been planted is immoral. School days for the year are over, and millions of boys and girls will be turned loose with no provision for using their time constructively except in recreation or work.

"School gardens and school supervised home gardens will furnish the greatly needed opportunity for constructive employment. Gardens must not be neglected during the summer months. No surer way could be devised of killing the great garden movement than to allow the weeds to destroy the crops already started by the boys and girls.

"Teachers should remain at their work until harvest time. This is being done by many teachers, and if it can be done by all will eliminate any chance of failure. Garden teachers cannot afford to have failure overtake their work."

Reports received at Washington from every section of the United States and territorial possessions indicate that the most intense enthusiasm prevails in the ranks of the young gardeners, and already garden fairs and exhibits have been held in many southern states, with arrangements being perfected for similar exhibits in northern, eastern and western states. Weekly garden markets are maintained by many divisions of the United States school garden army, and there is emphatic warrant for believing that the record of $15,000,000 of foodstuffs produced by the children of the U. S. S. G. A., in 1918, will be more than doubled.

SALISBURY MILLS WANTS FLAGMAN

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, July 24.—H. O. Roche and J. A. Seaman represented a delegation of residents of Salisbury Mills, Orange county, before Chairman Hill, of the public service commission, second district, Wednesday, on a complaint against the removing of the flagman at the Erie Railroad crossing at Salisbury Mills. G. R. James, New York, represented the United States Railroad Administration and Superintendent W. J. English, of the Erie, represented the railroad.

Mr. Roche and Mr. Seaman told Chairman Hill that complaint had been made to the commission after citizens of Salisbury Mills had complained to the railroad authorities. The crossing, they said, was on the main street where there had been a flagman for over 50 years until taken off by the railroad. There were siddings in addition to the main track, where cars were shifted and frequently "kicked" over the crossing and the views to be had of the approached the track four times each school day and cars were run from a coal incline near the crossing. Speed of trains, they said, was not reduced to five miles an hour at the crossing, which they considered dangerous, although no accidents had happened there. There had been four or five narrow escapes.

F. W. Gallagher, an engineer, detailed an examination of the crossing and the views to be had of the approach of trains and Superintendent English submitted a statement of number of pedestrians, wagons, automobiles, trains, etc., which crossed the tracks and the highways on three days this month. Chairman Hill reserved decision.

AMERICA'S IMMORTALS

EARL J. CHEEVERS,
Sergeant, Headquarters Co., 122nd Infantry.

Sergeant Cheevers received the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action near Bois de Forges, France, September 26, 1918. While engaged in maintaining a line of communication, Sergeant Cheevers saw four of the enemy enter a dugout during an attack. Armed with only a pistol, he followed. Upon reaching the dugout he ordered the men to come out. When they refused, he entered and routed out and captured twelve prisoners.

Diamonds Raised Their Own Mileage Adjustment To

Fabrics - 6,000 Miles
Cords - 8,000 Miles

Diamond Tires kept on giving such masterly service—kept it up with such unwavering consistency—that they automatically lifted themselves out of the old adjustment class.

Think of it—formerly on Fabrics the adjustment was 3,300 miles—now 6,000 miles; on Cords, 5,000 miles—now 8,000 miles.

If a good tire which was the favorite of hundreds of thousands of car owners, proved itself so much better that we can safely—very safely—raise the adjustment bases more than 40%, it is a sure-mileage tire for you to use.

Now is the time to put on Diamonds all 'round.

The new adjustment bases also apply on all Diamonds now in use or in the hands of dealers.

TWO NEW GENERALS.

The President's recommendation that Congress confer the permanent rank of General upon General Pershing and General March has brought to light the remarkable fact that we have had no General of the supreme rank in the American army since Sherman's death in 1891 and that in all our national history we have had only three, Grant, Sheridan and Sherman. With so many generals the title has almost lost its high distinction, the average man forgetting that in practically all cases there is the qualifying prefix of lieutenant, major or brigadier. So no few persons will be surprised to learn that the full title of General carries with it an honor that has been very jealously guarded. Even Washington was not a General in the complete sense, for the rank was not created until 1799 and the commission had not yet been issued when the Father of his country died nine months later. Sherman was not made a General until Grant had assumed the higher office as President and it is said that the great title was conferred on Sheridan two months before his death because President Cleveland wished to make a dying man happy.

General March has an excellent record as a soldier and his service as Chief of Staff in the great war calls for suitable reward, but doubt has been expressed as to whether he should receive so much as "the hero's crown, the grand decoration," to which Pershing as a very able field commander in the great war is thought by some to have a more unquestionable claim. If Congress confers the rank on both, we shall have two full Generals in active service for the first time and the three Generals of our history will be increased to five.

SHORTAGE OF NURSES.

The Baltimore Sun laments the shortage of trained nurses in the city by the Chesapeake and is loath to think that "the decrease is wholly due to a falling off in idealism and a descent to the money-making instinct among young women," as some of the hospital authorities are quoted as saying, for this would be "more alarming than an epidemic of disease." Believing with good reason that Baltimore does not stand alone in this particular, the Sun submits that "if American women have weakened in practical idealism, if they have grown more selfish and more mercenary, then a very radical and a very serious change has taken place in them that threatens the well-being of society quite as much as the efficient administration of the hospitals."

Doubtless there is a shortage of nurses due to the need of rest after the strain put upon them during the war, but the shortage due to this cause will be only temporary. Possibly there will always be fewer nurses than could be employed because many of them are needed where one good physician will suffice, and because the calling is an exacting one, requiring great powers of endurance, but always there will be a large number of recruits for two reasons. Nursing not only appeals to the best womanly instincts but is lucrative. There is no very great number of women able to save more money than the trained nurse who is paid $30 a week and over, does not need to dress expensively and gets her board free while at work. For these reasons there is good reason to believe that under normal conditions there will be nurses enough to meet the demand.

A Patriotic Poem.

Ruth W. Estock, who before her removal to Bridgeport, Conn., was a resident of this city, is the author of a poem entitled, "America, I Love You," which is being printed in various parts of the country. Before her marriage she was Ruth W. Davis. The poem follows:

America, I love you!
The truest love of all!
Thou'll find me always ready
Listening for thy call.

Ready to defend thee
With all my heart and might;
To suffer for thee willingly,
To keep thy banner bright.

Thy banner always flying
Over brave and true
America, I'll die for it,
My flag, my home and you!

"The Sick Man of Europe."

A collector of old prints pieced that the expression, "the sick man of Europe," persistently applied for years to Turkey dates back to the seventeenth century, when John Sobieski drove back the Turks from the gates of Vienna. A print of the ground shows the Turk on his sick bed and doctors, representing the nations of Europe, gathered about him.

CHASE DOUGHBOYS OUT OF PARIS

No American Soldiers in Paris By Aug. 1 Is Plan—Thousands Find Way By Hook or Crook To Gay French Capital.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, July 24.—An American uniform on the streets of Paris will be a rarity by the first of August if plans being vigorously pushed by A. E. F. authorities work out successfully.

Acting under orders from general headquarters, the military police are making a general clean up of Paris. Today, every officer and soldier on the streets was questioned as to his authority for being in Paris and, unless his papers showed he was in the city on official business, he was ordered to take the next train for Brest.

Military authorities declare this is a part of a general plan to sweep Europe of all American military not needed in connection with permanent headquarters or the forces on the Rhine.

Reports to headquarters have shown that thousands of officers are enjoying unofficial leave in Paris. In most cases, it is said, these officers have been dispatched to tasks in various parts of France and Belgium and have managed to slip into Paris to look over the city for a few days en route to their new posts.

A search of the hotels disclosed that, while figures were somewhat exaggerated, there are thousands of officers in Paris who technically have no business here.

The stream toward Brest has been growing in volume for a week and already there is a great diminishing of American uniforms in Opera, Rue de la Paix and other famous thoroughfares

All who attended the first block party held in Kingston for the purpose of raising money for the Red Cross, about a year ago, will be delighted to learn that Wiltwyck Chapter, D. A. R., is planning to hold another of these delightful block parties in the near future, and that at that time they will open the chapter house to the public.

The party will be held on the evening of Friday, September 5th, on the triangle covered by Crown and Green streets which includes the chapter house at the apex of the triangle.

The community at large will be glad of the opportunity to see the interior of the Chapter House which was resurrected and put into its splendid architectural condition by Wiltwyck Chapter, but which has been rarely open for public inspection. In fact it is becoming an appreciated custom in the city for our old Colonial houses, even private residences to be occasionally opened that the community at large may enjoy and understand the historic heritage which this city possesses. Nothing will be sold within the Chapter House, unless one may wish, to purchase a post card of the house, and these cards are always for sale there. A committee consisting of the regent, ex-regents and new regents and trustees of the chapter will be a reception committee to greet the guests and show them through the house. The lawn will be used for tables for ice cream and cake. The Willite paved streets will be blocked off and an entertainment early in the evening, the Block Party opening at 8 o'clock, will be followed by dancing. The best possible music will be furnished for both entertainment and dancing.

During the period of the war when the Red Cross workers were making surgical dressings at the chapter house or doing refugee garment sewing, etc., it was deemed by the Wiltwyck chapter officials as undesirable to do any repairing, etc., to the building and in more than two years these repairs, always needed to any building, have considerably accumulated As the income from membership or interest from legacies to the chapter is not sufficient now to meet the demands of the present high cost of the necessary repair work, the chapter hopes in addition to affording an evening of real pleasure to the entire community, to secure enough money to sufficiently add to this repair fund.

The streets where the party will be held will be brilliantly illuminated, showing to marked advantage this historic heart of Kingston. Of course there will be booths for the sale of refreshments, etc., and as stated above the best of band music.

While the plans are practically completed for this promised delightful event, which can be called social in the biggest sense of the word, the details will be announced in the press of the city from time to time. The price of tickets will be 25 cents.

Wiltwyck Chapter simply asks now that the people of Kingston and vicinity keep the date in mind, Friday, September 5th.

Twilight Scorer Back.

Peter Rodinis, the official scorer of the Twilight League, who was called to his home in Pennsylvania Friday, returned Monday, so as to be on his job again Wednesday night. He was called home on account of the seriousness of an operation which his mother had to undergo. At this writing, she is still in the hospital in a serious condition. Mr. Rodinis's many friends extend their sympathy and hope that may soon receive word that his mother is on the road to recovery.

Community Day in Newburgh.

Community Day, Wednesday, August 6, in Newburgh, gives promise of being the greatest event that city has witnessed since the Hudson-Fulton celebration. The events will be held at Orange Lake Park, and many noted entertainers have been secured. There will be parades in the park and sports on land and water.

CLEARWATER TO ACCOMPANY SMITH

Preparations have been made at Marlborough for the presence of over a thousand farmerettes of the farmerettes corps of southern Ulster and northern Orange, for the review by Governor Alfred E. Smith Friday afternoon this week. The governor will be accompanied by Judge Clearwater, the honorary president of the Farm Bureau, and both of them will address the gathering. As is well known, the governor and the judge struck up a warm friendship during the constitutional convention, a friendship which has survived the at times somewhat acrid discussions of that body.

RICH AND HEAVY SATIN GOWN

This is a heavy, yet soft satin with a quaint piping of plaited satin hemmed in. The white dots are lawn and little French dots secure it.

TRIMMING FOR GIRLS' FROCKS

Crochet Buttons and Loops Among the Embellishments Added to Youthful Clothes.

All manner of dainty trimmings are used on frocks for the small girl. For instance, a charming model of white batiste had a narrow plaited frill of double-tinted organdie edging the narrow turn-down collar and turn-back cuffs. The short bodice was made with box plait effect at the front, each side being edged with a frill. Pale pink crochet buttons and loops added a further touch of embellishment.

Many play frocks take on the lines of a slip-on, the gown fastening being at the side or both sides or at the front at the upper part. A smart little frock was made of plain and flowered material. The lower part of plain material was set on to the upper part, the joining line being cut in tab form, each tab ornamented by three pearl buttons and cord loops. The neck was square and the fastening was at either side of the blouse front—the closing being effected by buttons and loops. The upper part of the frock was of the plain material.

FOULARD HAS FIRST PLACE

Fabric Is Prime Favorite Among Silk Materials for Wear During Warm Weather.

Among the silk materials for the warm-weather frock the foulard has first place. The designs this season are exceedingly varied. The polka dot ranges in size from a pin-head to a half dollar. One very good pattern recently noted had several different-sized circles of white clustered together and plentifully scattered over the surface of a navy blue ground. A very good-looking costume of this design was combined with plain one-tone silk. The frock was simple of line. The plain material formed the body of the blouse and simulated peplum, while the short sleeves and scalloped flounces were of the polka dot foulard. Completing the costume was a leghorn hat trimmed with scarlet flowers.

To wear with many of the charming little organdie frocks wide-brimmed hats of the same material have been especially fashioned. These are trimmed with taffeta ribbon, and sometimes faced with taffeta. Jersey cloth, both in silk and wool, is one of the most-favored silk materials.

By a Certain Blind Poet.

The little girl who inquired at a library for "The Four Horses in the Eucalyptus" had lots of company in that sort of blunder. A letter of Mrs. Tarbell's, recently sold at auction, tells of her neighbor's maid coming with a request from her mistress for a loan of "Milk and Asparagus Lent."—Boston Transcript.

Architects Alarmed by Shortage of Draftsmen.

Washington.—There is a serious shortage of draftsmen, according to reports that have come to the division of public works and construction development information and education service, United States department of labor. Since the revival of the building industry architects have discovered that it is difficult to obtain a class of workers formerly so plentiful that they could not command high salaries. The present shortage is believed to be due largely to the fact that many draftsmen have established themselves during the war in other vocations, where they have been able to procure better salaries than they could obtain in their original line of work.

SCRAP BIG WARSHIPS

Great Britain to Dispose of Vessels by Auction.

Many of 200 That Have Outlived Usefulness Hold High Place in Naval History.

London.—Nearly 200 warships of the British navy, most of which have outlived their usefulness, are to be sold to the highest bidder as soon as they can be cleared of their guns, etc. Among the vessels to be disposed of are several which have a high place in naval history and around which hovers an intense sentimental interest.

A somewhat similar step was taken by the admiralty in 1904, when a large number of obsolete vessels were disposed of. At that time a great hue and cry was raised, as many persons feared that the strength of the navy would be seriously impaired. But, as a matter of fact, the sale of the ships resulted in making the navy stronger than ever and the coming sale is expected to have a similar effect.

The removal of obsolete vessels in 1904 had a two-fold purpose, and in both respects was justified by the war. It set free the personnel needed to start the nucleus crew system, and placed out of commission ships which did not give an adequate return in fighting efficiency for the cost of their upkeep.

Widespread interest will be aroused by the revelation of the names of ships to be removed from service. Sentimental interest in his majesty's ships of war is strong, amounting almost to reverence, evoked by such an ancient monument as Nelson's Victory.

Among the ships now to be disposed of are many which have been brought prominently before the public eye. Several have flown the flags of distinguished officers, and not a few have made records in connection with the war.

More than 100 destroyers, comprising the "A" to "F" classes, are now classed as noneffective, and 97 of them, including 21 for immediate disposal, appeared in the list of April 9 There will soon, therefore, be no destroyers in the navy launched before 1909. All the torpedo boats, except the 36 turbine-driven boats of the coastal type built in 1906-09, are being cleared off, and 46 are in the list.

Perhaps the most interesting unit of this group is torpedo boat No. 079, which in the naval maneuvers was commanded by King George, then a lieutenant in the navy.

To Clean Brass Castings.

Brass castings may be cleaned in a moment by dipping them into a solution of three parts sulphuric acid to three parts of nitric acid, to which after they have been mixed is added a quart of common salt, the whole being stirred until the salt has been dissolved. If this is placed in an earthenware vessel the brass castings can be dipped in it, removed immediately, and rinsed in clear water. The castings can be made as bright as new by this method and there is little trouble involved.

Nostalgia.

A young Swedish girl was very homesick. "You ought to be contented, and not fret for your old home, Ina," said her mistress, as she looked at the dim eyes of the girl. "You are earning good wages, your work is light, every one is kind to you, and you have plenty of friends here." "Yes, ma'am," said the girl. "But it is not the place where I do be that makes me very homesick; it is the place where I don't be."

MEXICAN BLAMES YANKEE SAILORS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Mexico City, July 24.—Commander Gonzales of Tampico, declares that the American consul agrees with him that United States sailors from the Cheyenne were to blame for the assault they suffered from bandits, said an official report given out here today.

Gonzales declares the American consul puts responsibility on the sailors for failure to notify the authorities that they were passing beyond the Carranza outposts into a region unprotected against bandits.

The official statement declares that four of the bandits, who participated in the killing of John Correll, an American, have been killed and that troops are pursuing the murderers of the American Cataron. It is stated, another American, Hughes, whose death was reported at Arboi Grande, died from injuries self-inflicted when he tried to shoot a policemen who arrested him for drunkeness.

PESKY BED BUGS

A MILLION BEDBUGS. Just think, a 35c package of the new golden chemical P. D. Q. (Peaky Devils' Quietus,) is enough to make a quart and enough to kill a million bedbugs, no matter how large they may be or where they came from, their age, color or sex, and at the same leaves a coating on their eggs and prevents hatching.

CUT THIS OUT. This new chemical can be had at any first-class drug store. A 35c package makes a quart of P. D. Q., and will go further than a barrel of old-fashioned bug Killer. Don't let anybody impose upon your intelligence by offering you something else. Insist on what you ask for, then you'll have what doctors prescribe.

KILLS FLEAS ON DOGS. It's fun to see the fleas drop off your pet dog.

KILLS CHICKEN LICE. No use for your chickens to have lice. A 35c package mixed makes a gallon of chicken [illegible]

Lawyer Robert G. Davey of New York city came to Esopus Sunday morning, as previously announced, and the congregation assembled at the Methodist Church were given a rare treat, if the opinion of the writer may be taken as a standard. The speaker proved himself an adept in the handling of the well-worn subject of temperance, and presented many new ideas in the brief period allotted him. The fact that the train, which brought the speaker to this village was late, caused the hour of service to be delayed, consequently some points were necessarily omitted. In the afternoon Mr. Davey went to Plutarch to deliver an address in the Methodist Church. At the close of the service, the Rev. Mr. Budd conveyed him to Highland in his car and he proceeded to his home by way of Poughkeepsie.

The Secretary of the Interior has issued the following invitation to the American people to visit the National Parks and National Monuments.

To the American People:

Uncle Sam asks you to be his guest. He has prepared for you the choice places of this continent—places of grandeur, beauty and of wonder. He has built roads through the deep-cut canyons and beside happy streams, which will carry you into these places in comfort, and has provided lodgings and food in the most distant and inaccessible places that you might enjoy yourself and realize as little as possible the rigors of the pioneer traveler's life. These are for you. They are the playgrounds of the people. To see them is to make more hearty your affection and admiration for America.

The rain of this week makes the man who has hay to be cut, or some already cut, to be drawn in, looks as if he has lost his best friend and all long to see the sun shine. People find fault about the railroads, ferry, grocer, jeweler, contractor and plumber, if they do not get your work done on time. Every one has the faculty of fretting and crying. Let us make reasonable allowance and appreciate the fact that often things do not go right and very few institutions, you know, run by man, are perfect; just settle down and collect your thoughts for we know the one that runs the universe will attend to the program without help from us, but let us have a hand in making the days he gives as pleasant and profitable as possible for every one.

Tattoo Marks.

It is usually impossible to remove such marks without leaving a permanent scar. One method is to tattoo the skin with a concentrated solution of tannin, following the original design. Then apply a crayon of silver nitrate until the skin turns black. Wipe off the excess of moisture and allow the caustic to eat into the skin. There will be pain and reddish scars will form, which may gradually disappear.

THIS CIRCUS GIRL WANTS A HUSBAND

Is there a perfectly good husband lying around loose in Kingston?

Jessie Orton, a trainer of animals with John Robinson three ring circus which comes to Kingston, Tuesday, July 29th, wants a life-mate. She has hunted through ten states for one but has not found the proper party.

Miss Jessie is rather particular. One of her dearest friends married a Kinderhook resident a year ago and the two are distressingly happy. Jessie wants a husband like the Kinderhook man. She says he is kind, gentle and considerate and she hopes there are more men in New York state, just like him.

Miss Orton will be in the circus parade on the morning of July 29th. She will ride a white horse. You will know her because she has the most fascinating dimple that ever dared dimple.

NAVAL RESERVISTS.

Release is Held Equivalent to Honorable Discharge.

Attorney General Charles D. Newton announces he has held that the release from active service granted to members of the United States Naval Reserve force should be considered equivalent to an honorable discharge from the navy, interpreting state laws which grant rights or privileges to honorably discharged members of the army and navy. This ruling will make it possible for released members of the Naval Reserve force to receive the benefit of scholarships, and it also will make it possible for such of them as have served beyond sea to have the free pedler's license, as provided by recent legislation. There are a number of Naval Reservists in this city and in Ulster county.

ARDONIA.

Ardonia, July 24. Sydney Laforge, who was injured by an auto July 4th at Modena, is improving at the Kingston City Hospital.

The currants are about over, also raspberries. Satisfactory prices were paid, the pickers getting 3 cents per quart for picking.

The grape crop looks promising, the best in years.

Quite a number from this place attended the Deuly sale.

Thomas Cruickshank, the veteran cooperman, is doing a thriving business. His son, William, who attends to the post office, is the right man in the right place.

President Wilson in vetoing the daylight saving bill, evidently is not a friend of the farmer. He has hurt himself and his party.

The best crop of currants in this vicinity was raised by William Shelman.

William Cruickshank has put in a new gasoline tank.

William Coy has a fine crop of apples.

A report is current that Jake Eckert has sold his fruit farm.

David Loeber, the veteran horse farmer, is visiting friends in town.

A fine entrance of a cow with four heads appeared in the Rural New Yorker of July 5th, the property of James Conklin of this place.

The Clintondale Fruit Growers' Association are erecting a cold storage plant at the above place at a cost of $75,000. About 50 men are employed. It is an up-to-date building covering one-fourth of an acre. It certainly puts out value on the man.

AT THE THEATRES.

Charming Elsie's New Role and A Miles-a-Minute Thriller.

As Gloria Swan, a dancer in a Palm Garden Cabaret, Elsie Ferguson rises to new heights as an emotional actress and her talents and engaging personality add another charming and powerful portrait to her list of screen impersonations. Wyndham Standing as leading man is also well known to Kingston theatre-goers and as "Larry Gibson" the blind soldier, offers this brilliant star excellent support. The story is adopted from George Weston's "Salt of the Earth" and is called "Eyes of the Soul" taken from the part of the story of the blind soldier who called himself "a bit of wreckage from the war," who made up merry little songs to keep him from wishing he were dead and her young life was a sort of lamp to be handed on, her soldiers light had gone out and her heart told her what to do. Special musical selections have been arranged today and Friday by Prof. Muller for this extraordinary engagement.

"Speedy Meade."

Louis Bennison surpasses all his previous brilliant attainments by his remarkable charactization in his newest offering, "Speedy Meade" it is an unusual and engrossing story and is speed from beginning to end. "Speedy Meade" (Louis Bennison), a Federal sleuth is ordered to the West to round up a desperate band of border raiders. He boards a mile-a-minute train, saddles a mile-a-minute horse, meets a mile-a-minute girl, has a mile-a-minute romance and the whole west was his. A story of thrills and action.

Spencer's Business School Notes.

Graduates of the different departments of Spencer's School who have recently accepted good business positions:

Miss Rose Doyle, an honor graduate of the shorthand and typewriting department, has secured a desirable situation as stenographer with Butler Brothers, New York city.

Miss Selena L. Backman, a graduate of the commercial department, has acquired a satisfactory position as bookkeeper and office assistant with Friedman & Company, New York, N. Y.

Miss Martha Schiess, an honor graduate of the stenographic department, has been placed in a substitute position as stenographer with the Canfield Supply Company, this city.

Miss Maud Wesley, who recently passed the United States civil service examination has received a telegraphic dispatch from Washington, offering her a very lucrative position she will accept the position early in August. Her many friends will be glad to learn of her success since graduation.

Harry Marquardt of the combined course at Spencer's School, has been placed on a permanent position as assistant bookkeeper and order clerk with the Canfield Supply Company, this city.

Miss Pearl Short, an honor graduate of Spencer's School, has obtained a good business position, serving in the capacity as stenographer with J. K. Lasher & Brother, New York city. There is a very active demand for stenographic help in the great metropolis, Spencer's graduates have little difficulty in securing employment in the best offices.

Work on the new school building is progressing rapidly. It is expected the school will be ready for occupancy by August 15. The contractors say that the new quarters are nicely arranged and that Spencer's will have an ideal place for its large and increasing patronage. When finished and furnished, the public will be invited to make an inspection of the class rooms, study halls, equipment, methods, etc. With all these facilities provided, Spencer's School is facing the brightest period in its history.

Adolph Zukor Presents ELSIE FERGUSON IN "EYES OF THE SOUL"

An ARTCRAFT Picture

"If I Am Happy Though I Cannot See,
How Very, Very Happy All of You Should Be"

Thus he had sung "over there"—after he was blinded—"to cheer up other poor devils who were worse off than I."

One day this little cabaret dancer had almost run him down while she was motoring with a wealthy judge who wanted to marry her.

And an honest old soul—his landlady—told her how he had been blinded by gas after giving his mask to a wounded soldier. 'The last of his family, too, poor boy! And now he must find his way alone—in the dark."

Alone—in the dark—and he young and brave and the salt of the earth! So the heart of this girl awoke, and the souls of the Madonnas of all ages stirred within her—

But see this picture, made from the wonderful story, "Salt of the Earth," by George Weston—a story which touched the whole country when it appeared in the Saturday Evening Post.

Almost everybody who has seen "Eyes of the Soul" says it is Elsie Ferguson's finest picture. When you see it, won't you please let us know what you think?

TRAVELLERS' CLUB FORMED HERE

About twenty knights of the grip banded together at the Kirkland Wednesday night to organize a commerical travellers' club in Kingston having for its object the "promotion of the interests of travelling men on the road and their social welfare, and to create a spirit of good fellowship among the travelling profession in this section." The men taking part in the organization of the club Wednesday night represent some of the largest houses in the country, and make regular trips to this city. It is expected that the membership of the club will grow to 50 or 60 within a short time.

At the meeting it was decided to look for a suitable club house in this city. Thursday morning another meeting was held at which time Samuel Saulpaugh, proprietor of the Kirkland, offered the use of the hotel as a meeting place for the club. His offer was accepted. The next meeting will be held Tuesday, August 19, to arrange for a clam bake later in the season. At the same time a committee will be appointed to arrange for several smokers to be held this coming winter.

The following officers were elected Wednesday night: President, Arthur Humphrey; first vice-president, D. McNair; second vice-president, Harry Smith; secretary, C. A. Murphy; treasurer, Jay P. Johnson; steward, E. S. Brower; board of directors, William J. McDuff, V. B. Cross, W. Wright, M. J. Cotton, H. Halford, Andy Anderson, O. P. Ross, William Fairchild and A. G. Steffans.

KEEP YOUR WAR SAVING STAMPS

Advertising Clubs Issue Bulletin Warning Public Against Stock Swindlers.

Various ways for prospective investors to detect the unscrupulous stock promoters are contained in a bulletin recently issued by the National Vigilance Committee of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World. The bulletin indicates several unmistakable signs of the "wildcat stock" peddlers which owners of War Savings Stamps and Liberty Bonds will do well to consider before exchanging their valuable securities for the offerings of these spurious stocks. The warning to prospective investors is as follows:

"So far as we have been able to ascertain not a single case has ever been reported where the promoters of a legitimate, worthy enterprise have offered to take Liberty Bonds in payment for the capital stock of a new company. We believe that the very offer to take Liberty Bonds should prompt the bond owner to consult a banker or legitimate broker relative to the value of the stock that is offered in exchange for the bonds. The offer to exchange is an earmark which should serve as a warning.

"Another earmark of the faker is his attitude when it is proposed to postpone action pending an investigation. He will usually sneer at the thought of consulting a banker or broker of standing, suggesting that, of course, they would not recommend the stock because they have stocks of their own to sell. The prospective investor might be sensible enough in such a case to remember that he never heard of a fly-by-night salesman who thus casts reflections upon business men of standing and that the banker or legitimate broker has been in the community many years and will no doubt continue in business for many more. He might reason that an established firm would figure that it could not afford to deceive him. Yet there are thousands of people who allow themselves to be hoodwinked because they believe such fairy stories."

Transmigration of Souls.

A fresh young man was pressing an old gentleman, who evidently felt bored, to give him an illustration of the transmigration of souls, showing how a person's identity might be maintained. At last the old gentleman replied: "Supposing you should die, your soul might appear in a canary bird; when the canary bird died it might appear in a lion or a tiger; again, it might appear in a jackass—and I might stroke its ears and say, 'My dear fellow, you have not changed a bit!'"—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Temperature of Leaves.

Some recent investigation of the temperature of leaves made in the deserts and mountains of Arizona and in the Santa Lucia mountains of California have resulted in the discovery that leaves show a very rapid change of temperature at times. These fluctuations are almost constantly going on. Changes of from 1 to 3 degrees centigrade were observed in from twenty to sixty seconds, and if a moderately strong wind is blowing the change may amount to 5 degrees in thirty seconds.

Keep Up "Good Times."

Keeping interested does not just point toward the serious side of life. It points to recreation—that absolutely necessary constituent of sane, healthy living. Set yourself in the swim of "good times," times that will make you laugh and forget your troubles. There is nothing easier than to slip out of the way of having good times as we get older, and yet the capacity for enjoyment never dies in us, though in our morbid perversity of mental vision we insist to ourselves that it has left us.

Wisdom in Quotation.

Bartlett, in his "Familiar Quotations," gives the following: "We read of a certain Roman emperor who built a magnificent palace. In digging the foundation, the workmen discovered a golden sarcophagus ornamented with three circlets, on which were inscribed, 'I have expended; I have given; I have kept; I have possessed; I do possess; I have lost; I am punished. What I formerly expended, I have; what I gave away, I have.'—Gesta Romanorum, Tale XVI."

Too High to Lend.

Our neighbor, who has a great habit of borrowing, came over one afternoon to borrow some baking powder and I told her I had some. In the course of conversation she mentioned the high price of baking powders, when my brother spoke up: "Look on the grocery bill and see how much they charged me for the can I got this morning."—Exchange.

As Jimmy Saw It.

James was too pugacious to his mother's way of thinking. She often scolded him for getting into fights with other boys, and told him it would be better to stand a little picking on than to be fighting half the time. One day he came home with garments soiled and torn and explained that he had been in a fight because he had refused to take a dare. After a heated argument with his mother about it he exclaimed, "Gee whiz, mother, I shouldn't think you'd want to bring up your boy to be a coward!"

Good Law, for Germany.

The Bellmeck law, which became effective in Germany early in 1914, provides for Germans retaining their allegiance to Germany while becoming citizens of the United States or any other country. In assuming the new citizenship a German subject, if it suits him, continues his German citizenship and allegiance in Germany according to this law.

MOTOR CORPS GIRLS KEPT BUSY BY WAR BRIDES.

Report Shows Importance of Service at Points of Debarkation—Activities Expanding.

War brides figure conspicuously in the latest report of the Red Cross Motor Corps, which will continue in service indefinitely. Figures given out by the Atlantic Division of the Red Cross shows that 343 war brides were given transportation from piers in Hoboken, N. J., to places of entertainment in New York city and elsewhere in one month. The report indicates that there has been practically no decrease from the average of the previous rush months of troop debarkation.

Canal Zone, reorganized by the Corps numbered 1,307; overseas nurses, 1,428; litter cases, 235, and ambulatory cases, 1,082. Passenger cars used by the Corps numbered 336, and 374 ambulance trips were made.

In its recreation activities the Corps carried 4,296 soldiers. Parties of convalescent soldiers were taken to 51 entertainments, nearly all of them Red Cross entertainments, in one month.

The work of the Corps, it was announced, will continue even after troop movements have ceased. Discontinuance of service of other women's motor corps has no bearing on the work of the Red Cross Motor Corps Service, it was announced. Plans are under way for an increase in the extent and character and variety of the Corps' activities.

Unsought Fame.

"This is the end of my social career!" moaned Algernon, sitting up in bed. "I drank too much last night at the ball and staggered into everybody!" "Scarcely, sir, scarcely," said his valet apologetically. "Everyone's talking of you as inventing a new dance!"

What He Really Wanted.

Little Lowell had been wanting a pet. His father had promised to get one for him. When the new baby came and the doctor showed the little bundle to Lowell and said: "This is your new sister, my son; what do you think of her?" Lowell looked at the baby seriously, then replied: "Well, I'd like her better if she was a pet."

ARMY PLANES REACH ALBANY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., July 24.—Six army aviators in DeHavlland and Curtiss planes, Colonel Archie Miller commanding, flew from Mineola, L. I., to Albany today and presented to Governor Smith plans for the establishment throughout New York state of landing fields. Two other machines, which started with the squadron, landed at Poughkeepsie and Castleton due to engine trouble. One plane completed the flight of approximately 150 miles in one hour and 10 minutes, Captain C. Gordon Reel, former state commissioner of highways of New York, piloted one of the planes which reached here.

The machines landed at Quentin Roosevelt Field just outside the city shortly before noon. Governor Smith was there to welcome the aviators. Colonel Miller, on behalf of the war department, aerial service, urged these recommendations upon the governor:

1—Creation of the office of state commissioner of aviation.

2—Immediate legislation to provide for the establishment of landing fields throughout the state.

3—The state constabulary to guard and maintain municipal fields.

4—Legislating penalties for trespass on municipal landing fields, so that these may be made safe for the aviators.

5—State registration of all machines other than government owned.

6—Development of fields to assist the postal authorities.

7—Establishment of these fields to assist the new state militia and forming the basis for national army mobilization points.

8—Establishment of a department for drafting suitable plans, details, etc., for mapping out all routes for aerial transportation within the state.

9. The establishment of a special volunteer force consisting of the personnel of ex-army officers and enlisted men of the air service to furnish an intelligent, experienced organization for the proper maintenance and development of flying fields and aerial routes.

The aviators are expected to leave here at 5 o'clock this afternoon for New York.

The comptroller shall at the end of each full calendar month thereafter deduct and retain monthly from the salary of any such persons one per centum of his monthly salary. Money so deducted by the comptroller from the salary of employees of an appellate division shall be kept in a separate fund and credited to the department, and money so deducted from the salary of stenographers of the supreme court in a judicial district shall be kept in a separate fund and credited to the district. A person retired pursuant to this section shall be paid by the state comptroller out of the funds credited to the retirement fund from the department or judicial district in which such person shall reside, or if the amount thereof be insufficient, the balance shall be paid in the first instance by the state out of money appropriated therefor and be apportioned by the comptroller among the counties of the department or judicial district in which such person shall reside, in proportion to the taxable property of such counties respectively, according to the last assessment-roll thereof. The amount so apportioned to each county shall be a county charge and the county treasurer upon receipt thereof shall pay over the same to the comptroller of the state.

AN ACT to amend the code of civil procedure, in relation to time within which application for order to discharge personal property from attachment must be made.

Became a law April 15, 1919, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section six hundred and fifty-eight-a of the code of civil procedure is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 658-a. Application for order to discharge personal property from attachments; undertaking. If goods or effects, other than a vessel, attached as the property of the defendant, or any portion thereof, are claimed by or in behalf of another person, such claimant may, at any time before such goods or effects shall have been sold under execution issued upon any judgment recovered by the plaintiff in the action wherein such goods or effects were attached, apply to the judge who granted the warrant, or to the court, for an order to discharge the attachment, as to the whole or a part of the property attached. Upon such an application the claimant must give to the sheriff an undertaking with at least two sufficient sureties who must justify in double the value of the property claimed, as appraised in the inventory of the property attached. The undertaking must be conditioned to the effect that in an action to be brought on the undertaking, the claimant will establish that he was the owner of such goods or effects at the time of the levy thereon; and that in case of his failure to do so, he will pay to the sheriff the full value of the property so claimed with interest from the date thereof together with the costs of the action. Sections six hundred and ninety and six hundred and ninety-one shall apply to an undertaking given as prescribed in this section. Upon such an undertaking being given and after justification of the sureties if required, the court or judge must make an order discharging the property so claimed from the attachment, upon payment by the claimant of the sheriff's fees and necessary disbursements. Thereupon and upon such payment, the sheriff must discharge the same accordingly, notwithstanding that the plaintiff may have given an undertaking as provided in section six hundred and fifty-eight. The court or judge may, upon application of the plaintiff or of the claimant at any time before the warrant is vacated or annulled, upon notice to all parties in interest, direct the sheriff to commence an action upon the undertaking, upon such terms and conditions and under such regulations as it or he deems just. In such an action, the claimant may show, in bar of a recovery that he was the owner of the said property attached. If judgment passes against the claimant the plaintiff is entitled to recover the value of the said property with interest from the date of the undertaking with the costs of the action. Neither the giving of the undertaking as prescribed in this section, nor the recovery of any judgment thereon, shall affect in any manner, the right, if any, of the defendant in the attachment action in or to the property discharged from the attachment, nor shall this section be construed as affecting or impairing any other right or remedy which any person might otherwise have in respect to the property attached.

§ 2. This act shall take effect September first, nineteen hundred and nineteen.

§ 91. Boiler inspection. The commission shall cause to be inspected at least once each year, all boilers used for generating steam or heat which carry a steam pressure of more than fifteen pounds to the square inch, except where a certificate is filed with such commission by a duly authorized insurance company, in conformity with the rules and regulations of the commission and certifying that upon such inspection such boilers have been found to comply with the rules and regulations adopted by the commission and to be in a safe condition. Every such insurance company shall report to the commission all boilers insured by them coming within the provisions of this section including those rejected, together with the reasons therefor. A fee of five dollars shall be charged the owner or lessee of each boiler internally inspected and two dollars for each external inspection made by the inspector of the commission but not more than the sum of seven dollars shall be collected for the inspection of any one boiler for any year. Such fee shall be payable within thirty days from the date of such inspection. If a certificate of inspection filed in the office of the commission shows a boiler to be in need of repairs or in an unsafe or dangerous condition, the commission shall order such repairs to be made to such boiler as in its judgment may be necessary and it shall order the use of such boiler discontinued until such repairs are made or such dangerous and unsafe conditions remedied. Such order shall be served upon the owner or lessee of the boiler, personally or by mail, and any owner or lessee failing to comply with such order within a time to be specified therein, which shall not be less than ten days from the service of the order if served personally and not less than fifteen days from the mailing thereof if served by mail, shall be liable to a penalty of fifty dollars for each day's neglect thereafter. Every owner or lessee of any such boiler who shall use or allow a boiler to be used by any one in his employ after receiving notice that such boiler is in an unsafe or dangerous condition shall be subject to a penalty of not to exceed five dollars for each day on which such boiler is used after receipt of such notice. Owners and lessees of boilers shall attach to such boilers the numbers assigned by the commission under a penalty of five dollars for each day's failure so to do after such numbers have been assigned.

The provisions of this section shall not apply to cities in which boilers are regularly inspected by competent inspectors acting under the authority of local laws or ordinances. Said cities shall enforce the boiler code as adopted by the commission.

Boilers subject to inspection by the public service commission, inspectors of steam vessels under the state superintendent of public works and United States government are exempted.

View From High Points.

At mountain stations, where one is above the greater part of the lower, dust-laden layers of the atmosphere, more stars are visible than at sea level. Some recent observations at Mt. Wilson by Van der Bilt show that the limit of unaided vision there, without even the aid of screens to shut off the light of the sky, is at about the seventh magnitude—that is, the faintest stars that can be seen on the mountain are two and one-half times brighter than can be seen at sea level.

THOUSANDS DIED IN POGROMS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 24.—"Pogroms in Poland and the Ukraine have been the worst in the history of the world, and the massacred Jews will run into the tens of thousands, denials or not," declared Louis Marshall of New York today on his arrival from France.

Marshall, with Dr. Dreyus Adler of Philadelphia, has been abroad since last May. They represented the Jewish race at the peace conference.

Marshall said the pogroms was due to anarchy and that no organized government exists where the outrages too place.

"They have killed thousands in the Ukraine," he said, "to loot and pillage on a grand scale.

A home wedding took place at 19 Lincoln street, Yonkers, N. Y., on Saturday evening, July 19th, when Miss Ethel Wright, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wright, became the wife of George W. DeWitt-Beaty.

Tuesday afternoon, the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Beaty at Stone Ridge was the scene of a delightful wedding, when their daughter, Roena, was united in marriage to Edward Chevelier DeWitt of Alligerville and Jersey City, N. J. The simple ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Wilmer MacNair of Holmdel, N. J., a former pastor of the Stone Ridge Reformed Church. The bride was charmingly gowned in ivory silk Georgette over ivory creme de chine, pearl trimmed, with veil held by French sweet peas. Her shower bouquet was of bride's roses. The bride's attendant, Miss Ethel Beaty, a sister of the bride, was gowned in opal satin with crystal trimming and carried a bouquet of sunburst roses. The groom and his attendant, Virgil B. DeWitt, his brother, wore the conventional black. Mendelssohn's wedding march was excellently rendered by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Ward Christiana. After the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served the guests by caterers from Kingston. Many beautiful and costly gifts were received. The groom's gift to the bride was a diamond platinum bar pin and to his attendant a pair of gold cuff links. The bride's gift to her attendant was a cameo brooch. Guests were present from Jersey City, New York city, Newburgh and Kingston. After a tour of the Adirondacks and White Mountains, Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt will reside in Jersey City, N. J.

Where Seagulls Roost.

Seagulls do not always roost on the water, as persons familiar with the places say that thousands of gulls roost in trees on Big Duck, Little Duck and Old Man islands in Maine, and not only roost in trees, but nest in them as well. The same is true of many other islands along the Maine coast. The gulls of Boston harbor and thereabouts have particular roosting places on the water.

CHARGES WILSON WITH SECRECY

Republicans Say Pact To Protect France Should Have Been Given To Senate At Same Time As Peace Treaty.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, July 24.—President Wilson was charged by Senators Lodge of Massachusetts, and Brandegee of Connecticut in the senate this afternoon with having failed to comply with a provision in the Franco-American-British pact of June 28 that it should be submitted to the senate at the same time as the treaty of Versailles.

In support of his charge, Senator Lodge read from the Paris Figaro of July 3 what was purported to be an official statement that the pact, which provides for the United States and Great Britain going to the aid of France in the event of an unprovoked attack by Germany, was to be submitted to the senate for advice and consent at the same time that body received the treaty of Versailles.

Washington, July 24.—What was purported to be the text of the pact by which the United States and Great Britain would go to the assistance of France in the event of an unprovoked attack upon her by Germany, was read into the record this afternoon by Senator Brandegee of Connecticut. The version was that published recently by Harper's Weekly.

In the midst of the reading a messenger from the White House delivered to the vice president a large sealed envelope.

"I think this is the treaty to which the gentleman from Connecticut is referring," said the vice president.

"If so, that is sealed and this is open," was Brandegee's retort, as he continued to read.

Vice President Marshall clipped open the envelope and announced:

"This is a treaty but not the one referred to. An executive session will be in order."

AN ACT to amend the prison law, in relation to funds available for earnings of prisoners.

Became a law April 11, 1919, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section one hundred and eighty-five of chapter forty-seven of the laws of nineteen hundred and nine, entitled "An act relating to prisons, constituting chapter forty-three of the consolidated laws," as last amended by chapter two hundred and eighty-eight of the laws of nineteen hundred and fifteen, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 185. Earnings of prisoners. Every prisoner confined in the state prisons, reformatories and penitentiaries, and every prisoner serving sentence in the county jails, may, in the discretion of the managing authority of said institution, receive compensation from the earnings of the institution in which he is confined, such compensation to be graded by such managing authority for the time such prisoner may work, but in no case shall the compensation allowed to such convicts exceed in amount ten per centum of the earnings of the institution in which they are confined; provided, however, that any compensation in excess of one and one-half cents per day shall be based upon an amount of work or labor performed by him at his option in excess of a given amount fixed for him to perform for the benefit of the state, or political subdivision thereof, and in such case his compensation may, in the discretion of such managing authority, be a sum equal to the value of the additional work or labor so performed or to the value of the product or portion thereof produced by such additional work or labor, except that his total compensation shall not in any case exceed the amount of twenty cents a day. The difference in the rate of compensation shall be based both on the pecuniary value of the work performed, and also on the willingness, industry and good conduct of such prisoner; provided, that whenever any prisoner shall forfeit his good time for misconduct or violation of the rules or regulations of the prison, reformatory, penitentiary or county jail, he shall forfeit out of the compensation allowed under this section such an amount as may be determined by the managing authority of any such institution, not to exceed twenty-five cents for each day of good time so forfeited. The managing authority of any such institution may institute and maintain a uniform system of fines, to be imposed at his discretion, in place of his other penalties and punishments, to be deducted from such compensation standing to the credit of any prisoner, for misconduct by such prisoner.

If, at any time, the earnings from the industries of a prison are insufficient to provide for the payment hereafter of one and one-half cents per day to each prisoner, the superintendent of state prisons may transfer to such prison necessary moneys to provide for such payments, from moneys, if any, in the capital fund or funds of another state prison or prisons in excess of the needs of the latter institution or institutions; but the amount so transferred to a prison shall not exceed a sum which, together with its own moneys available for payments to prisoners, will provide for the payment of one and one-half cents per day to each prisoner, computed on the basis of its population.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

PREMIER AND MINERS CONFER

Lloyd-George Seeking Way Out of Big Strike—Press Rebels Against Three-Headed Union — Soldiers Guard Mines.

By Telegraph to The Freeman

London, July 24.—With soldiers guarding the mines in the Yorkshire fields, Premier Lloyd-George intervened personally today in an effort to bring the coal miners strike to an end. The premier was scheduled to hold a conference with the officials of the federation of miners, but in the meantime the transport workers have begun to go out in sympathy and shipping in the great port of Liverpool is paralyzed.

Although the 'triple alliance' voted to put the question of a general strike up to the rank and file of the mine, railway and transport workers, some of the miners, notably those in Lancashire, have already begun to return to work. This was offset by the walkout of 20,000 additional miners in Derbyshire.

Some of the newspapers took a very serious view of the labor situation today.

Stab at Democracy

The Daily Telegraph characterized the strike movement as an attempt to smash the constitution to pieces and "to shatter the fabrics of political democracy."

"The nation cannot live under the shadow of Robert Smillie's incessant and peremptory 'stand and deliver,'" says the Morning Mail. "We must be free or die. Of all the forms of servitude the least tolerable is that which the triple alliance with the miners in the lead seek to impose."

Robert Smillie is head of the mine workers union.

The Daily Mail describes the proposed general ballot as "a bad blunder. It continues: 'It is an attempt to force their sovereignty upon the country which was rejected last December. They are trying to rule by violence instead of by justice and fairness of argument. They are asking for a beating.'"

New Govt Offer

The Daily Mail added that the miners would attempt to obtain a statement from the premier today but that it probably would not be forthcoming.

There is a general discussion in parliament says the Daily Mail to the effect that the premier is against internationalization of mines and intends to say so shortly.

It was indicated however by some correspondents, that the government might make a new offer today containing fourteen points of settlement under certain conditions.

The Nianguluns Won

The Nianguluns of Wilbur defeated the South Rondout team in a game of baseball Tuesday evening by a score of 11 to 9. SECY BAKER RECEIVES REPORT OF RED CROSS.

The report of the American Red Cross for the fiscal year ending June 30 1918 has just been presented to Secretary of War Baker in accordance with the provision of the Red Cross charter which requires the organization to make a full report of receipts and expenditures to be audited by the War Department. The War Department in turn transmits a copy of the report to Congress.

The report shows that up to the end of the fiscal year 1918, the Red Cross appropriated $107,716,348 to carry on its work abroad and at home. Of that amount $59,788,672 went for relief work in foreign countries, $7,688,836 for work in the United States and $1,945,357 for relief work in various countries on work specified by contributors. $26,286,000 was set aside for working capital, and the balance went for other activities of the organization.

VOICE ORDERS RULE AIR WAR

Development of Radio Telephone Permits Personal Direction of Fleets.

PREVENTS MANY ACCIDENTS

At Signing of Armistice Training in Voice-Commanded Flying Was Well Under Way—Pilots Directed From Ground.

Washington.—Previous to the entry of the United States into the war, the problem of airplane radio development had received attention from the army.

In August 1910 the first wireless transmission from airplanes was made. In the years following the development of the airplane radio was carried on through a series of accomplishments. These may be summed as follows:

1912—Message transmitted from airplane to ground by wireless telegraph over a distance of 50 miles.

1915—Fan type of driving the wireless power plant on the airplane developed and adopted.

1916—Radio telegraph transmission from airplane successful over 140 miles of distance, radio messages transmitted between airplanes in flight, airplane radio telephone constructed.

1917—The human voice transmitted by radio telephone from airplane to ground.

Talk Thousands of Miles.

Contemporaneous with this was the commercial development of the radio telephone for ground and ship use by engineers of the American Telephone and Telegraph company. This culminated in a successful transmission from the naval radio station at Arlington to stations thousands of miles away.

In May, 1917, steps were taken to combine the experience of the engineers and of the army in developing the airplane wireless.

Six weeks later the airplane telephone was a fact, and in October 1917, a long range test was made. Telephonic communication was carried on between airplanes in flight up to 25 miles apart and from airplane to ground up to a distance of 45 miles.

The development of voice commanded flying was definitely begun at Gerstner field La., in May, 1918. On June 1 an aerial review was given by an airfleet of two squadrons of 18 planes each, followed by a close order drill by a section of six airplanes.

Throughout the review and the drill command was exercised by the voice of the commander flying with the fleet. In September following voice commanded flying was instituted at several other fields.

Avoids Many Accidents.

By using the airplane radio telephone in instructing aviators in aerial gunnery it was found possible to reach the same efficiency with a saving of one-third of the time. By exercising control over pilots in the air, accidents were practically eliminated.

At the signing of the armistice, development and training in voice commanded flying was well under way. Numerous demonstrations were held during November and December and a fleet of 204 airplanes was maneuvered in the air at San Diego by voice command.

In the practical application of the airplane radio telephone to airplanes over 6,000 flights have been made with this apparatus in this country. In the last 2,000 flights there have been only 74 cases of airplane trouble and only 25 cases of radio trouble.

Shipments of the apparatus to France in quantities began August and September, 1918, and of trained air service radio personnel in October. Had the war continued the voice-commanded military air unit would undoubtedly have made itself felt.

Cotton Seized in 1867 Is Paid for by U. S.

Savannah, Ga.—The claim of the Imperial Importing and Exporting Company of Georgia for $176,666.63 for cotton illegally seized by the federal government in 1867 has been paid. It developed through the filing of a petition in superior court here for permission to notify by advertisements stockholders and others interested.

The money is to be divided among residents of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North and South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia. Lawyers, however, will get half of the total. The case reached final decision in federal courts recently after ten years of litigation.

PLANNING THE MEALS

Let us begin at the beginning which is breakfast. We need follow no law except that of the tastes of our family. In these days of good food habits everybody eats everything and enjoys it, with the exception of course of the few unfortunates who have some personal idiosyncrasy which prohibits some well-liked food. Fruit in the morning is usually enjoyed, a dish of cereal of some kind, to be followed by a piece of toast and an egg with a cup of coffee, a cooky or a doughnut, will be satisfactory for the average man or woman who works at light labor. For the child a cup of milk takes the place of the coffee, and a large dish of cereal with toast and egg, or simply the cereal will make a sustaining breakfast. The American breakfast, compared to the English meal, is quite a kindergarten affair. Here is a breakfast menu taken from an English cook book, for an August morning: "Bloaters on toast, collared tongue (whatever that is), hot buttered toast, marmalade, white bread and butter, brown bread, and bread and milk."

The midday meal, or luncheon, if the heavy meals comes at night, should be light and nourishing and easily digested, for a heavy meal at noon causes sluggishness and inactivity. A simple soup, or a dish of escalloped vegetable for a hot dish a cup of tea, cocoa or milk, a little fruit and cake will be found sufficiently sustaining for that meal.

For dinner there is a wide range, depending upon the taste and the amount one may expend of energy as well as money in its preparation. It is well the people who have the most money to spend enjoy the simplest fare, for they know often at great cost what too rich and too heavy food will do to one's digestion.

In these days of simple living we have cut down the dinner to three and four courses often cutting out the soup and serving the meat dish, salad or entree in one course, then the dessert, following with the after-dinner coffee.
